Vampires Of Venice
Venice, 1575. One of the worst plagues ever to strike mankind: the Black Death. Mass graves swell thousands of bodies. A legend grows that a vampire known as a "Shroud-eater" is the cause of the plague. The Shroud-eater feasts on corpses, then rises from the earth to infect the living. More than 400 years later Italian forensic anthropologist & CSI specialist Matteo Borrini leads a team excavating a 18th Century mass grave on one of Venice's outlying islands.
